BULLET WENT WILD

John Winfrey Shot in the Stomach by His Brother.

George Winfrey Tried to Kill Will Strickland Over a Nickle This Morning.

HE THEN ESCAPED

George Winfrey, colored, accidentally shot his brother, John Winfrey, this morning at 11 o'clock in the latter's saloon on lower Court street, and after the shooting made his escape. The two Winfrey brothers and Will Strickland were in the saloon, which is located between First and Second streets on Court, when a dispute arose over a nickle which George Winfrey claimed Strickland owed him. He asked Strickland for the nickle and met with a refusal. With this Winfrey pulled out a pistol and then Strickland pulled out a quarter to pay the debt, to avoid trouble, but Winfrey would not have it that way. Strickland claims that he rushed on him saying "I am going to kill you anyway, you s— of a b—" and tried to shoot him in the head. The pistol, which was thrown down on Strickland, struck him in the head and exploded. The bullet did not hit the intended mark but went into the stomach of John Winfrey, who was standing nearby. Strickland did not know that he was not injured by the ball until he appeared at the city hall. The force of the blow of the pistol inflicted a slight scalp wound and his hair and hat were powder scorched. Otherwise he is uninjured.

After the shooting Winfrey fled and has never been caught. His brother was examined by Drs Brooks and Rivers and his wound pronounced not necessarily fatal. He has been taken home on South Eighth street. The police are keeping a watch on all roads and think if the fugitive is still in Paducah, that he will be captured by night.

Winfrey, who did the shooting, was some time ago convicted of robbing a man on Washington street, and sent to the penitentiary.

Manager English Arranges for a Great Extravaganza.

He will Be One of the Owners, and Will Have a Fine Attraction Out.

WILL RETURN TOMORROW

Manager James E. English, of the Kentucky theater, will return in the morning from New York, where he has been on important business. While there he completed arrangements to have out next year one of the biggest musical extravaganzas on the road. He also booked some additional fine attractions for The Kentucky, both for this season and next.

He says in a letter to a friend here:

"We have completed arrangements for the big musical extravaganza for next season that Ollie Mack, Joseph M. Gaites—the author—and I will have out.

"There will be 75 people and a great cast. It will open August 1 in Chicago for a four weeks' run, but I am not at liberty at present to give the name of the theater, or the name of the production, as we have not yet received our copyright papers from Washington.

"All the prominent managers here to whom I have outlined my plans say it will be great, and a second 'Florodora'.

"I have seen some great shows here, and among the managers found Frank Willstach, of Viola Allen, who was in Paducah last year and who is one of the owners of 'At Ooby Corners,' Adelaide Thurston's new play. This season she has already played to $26,000 profit. She will not be at The Kentucky until March, however."

Donations Coming In Generously.

The donations for the Christmas tree to be given by Reverend R. W. Chiles and The Sun, at the Rescue Mission the day following Christmas are coming in generously and it is very gratifying indeed.

Most of the merchants have been very generous in their gifts and the assurance of a big Christmas for the poor of Paducah this year are the very best. It is the intention of Mr. Chiles and The Sun that every deserving person, whether man, woman or child in the city shall receive something this year. If you know of any deserving families it would be appreciated if you will send or telephone the address to The Sun office so that they may be attended to. No one should be missed.

If you have not contributed to this fund let us jog you up a little. It shouldn't be much begging to get you to open your heart and purse to this work. Send in something—preferably money as we can do more with that. But it doesn't matter what you send in it will be appreciated. Fill out the coupon below and mail it to The Sun. The deed will be noted by the Observer of all and the proper credit given.

I inclose herewith

DOUBLE WEDDING METROPOLIS

Mr. R. G. Caldwell and niece, Miss Lizzie Rogers, Messrs. Ernest Caldwell and Joseph Bishop accompanied by Rev. W. H. Pinkerton, left this morning for Eddyville to attend the wedding of Mr. James Caldwell to Miss Laura Gracey.

Rev. Pinkerton performed the ceremony at noon and after the marriage, the couple left on the fast Louisville passenger train for the east on a short bridal tour. Mr. Caldwell is captain of the "Wheeler Guards" and a young man of much business ability and his bride is one of the most popular and attractive young ladies of Eddyville.

The marriage of Miss Bessie Patterson to Mr. Gardner Gilbert is announced to take place at 10:30 o'clock December 17 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. The bride-to-be is a young lady of great popularity, and was born and reared here, having many friends and admirers, while Mr. Gilbert is a prominent young tobacco merchant, and at present assistant bookkeeper for the Western District Warehouse company.

On account of parental objections, Monday evening Mr. Willard Coles and Miss Daisy Melvin met and left on the 7:45 train for Dyersburg, Tenn., where they were made husband and wife, says yesterday's Mayfield Messenger.

The bride is the pretty, bright and attractive daughter of Mr. Taylor Melvin, near the college. Mr. Coles is connected with the book store of Mr. R. L. Coulter and is a promising young business man. They are expected to return this evening.

SUIT WILL BE FILED

Marshal Crow Now Seeks to Hold His Position for Four Years.

Says Paducah Was Not Legally Transferred to the Second Class.

BIG LEGAL BATTLE

Chief of Police James Collins this morning officiated as lord high executioner of the police court for the first time in over a year. It was his first performance since he retired as marshal over a year ago, and he was somewhat modest about it. He waited after court to collect the fines and costs but most of the prisoners went below to serve them out on the streets, so he was not kept very busy.

Marshal Crow, who yesterday received official notice that he was no longer "it," and must give way to Chief of Police Collins, today offered no objection to the chief's presiding at court and doing the collecting, as his suit was not quite ready to be filed. He was there, however, and there was not the least bit of a clash.

This afternoon Attorneys Reed and Berry intended to file the injunction suit to restrain the chief of police, board of fire and police commissioners, or the general council or either branch thereof or anyone else from interfering with Marshal Crow in the discharge of his duties or the collection of his fees and salary, but deferred it until tomorrow, when Judge Husbands can hear it.

The petition alleges, in the first place, that Paducah is not in the second class, claiming that the transfer was not in conformity to the law, and further that even if the city is in the second class, there is no law justifying the curtailing of the term of office of a man elected by the people, before he has served the term for which he is elected.

The questions involved are technical ones, and a great deal of interest will be taken in the result of the case.

COSTLY CURIOSITY.

FORTY DOZEN EGGS BROKEN AT ONE WHACK TODAY.

Mr. J. F. Perrine, the produce dealer, is mourning the loss of 40 dozen eggs that were broken on Second street this morning in a runaway.

John Nickols, colored, who has been in the employ of Mr. Perrine since a boy, was driving a wagon loaded with 800 dozen eggs and was at the same time looking around to see if his girl was in sight. He was not paying strict attention to the horse and the animal became frightened at a hapnet and turned around quickly, overturning the wagon. The eggs were in cases, 25 cases in all, and after the debris had been cleared away and the eggs examined it was found that just 40 dozen had been broken. Eggs are now selling at 23 cents per dozen and the total loss to Mr. Perrine will be $8.80.

ALLEGED MEAT THIEVES.

THREE ARRESTED THIS AFTERNOON FOR LARCENY.

Ed Henderson, Rosa and Eli Boswell, colored, were arrested this afternoon by Officers Evitts and Farrow on a charge of stealing meat from J. D. Overstreet, who keeps a grocery at Eighth and Boyd. They will be given a hearing tomorrow.

REPUBLICAN HAD

THE MAJORITY.

Frankfort, Dec. 10—The court of appeals, in an opinion by Judge O'Rear, reversed the decision of the Edmonson circuit court in the case of E. W. Edwards vs. M. M. Logan, involving the election of the office of county attorney in Edmonson. The trial court found for Logan, Democrat. The court here reverses this and says Edwards had a majority.

Suddenly With Pain
Around Heart,

Shortness of Breath
and Suffocation.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure
Cured Me.

"I read your symptoms of angina of the heart and they correspond exactly with my trouble. I was suddenly taken with pain around the heart, attacks of shortness of breath, and a suffocating feeling. I could not lie down for three or four weeks. My home doctor gave me no relief and I thought I would test Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and Nerve Plasters. I got one bottle and a plaster and took the former strictly according to directions, besides, placed a plaster over my left breast. The deep seated pain was gone before the first bottle had been taken and I could draw a long breath for the first time in over a year. I took four bottles of the Heart Cure, and am convinced it saved my life and I think fully as well of the Nerve Plasters. They draw out soreness and pain and bring instant relief. I will add when my trouble was at its worst that the palpitation of my heart shook the bed under me. I could not think of lying on my left side, which was so sore that I could not bear the weight of my arm to rest on it. The disagreeable symptoms have left me and thanks to your Heart Cure. I can never praise it enough."—Mrs. C. BLACK, Charleston, S. C.

Sudden pains around the heart are known as heart spasms. The heart is a hollow muscle and heart spasms, or cramp, is similar to that of other muscles, except that the former are the frequent cause of sudden death. I recommend it to all my friends who are afflicted that way, and it is curing them too." 50c at DuBois and Co.'s.

PLOTTING MURDER.

Rome, Dec. 10—Thirteen anarchists were arrested near Spezia last night, after a desperate struggle. Women Fall Out Over a Man and Trouble Ensues.

Cases Investigated This Morning in the Police Court.

Percy Grimes was the disinterested cause of much trouble last night. He is colored, and one of his female acquaintances is Jennie Hester, who had reason last night to think that he was trifling with the affections of Bloomer Walker, who is a blossom of daisiesome hue. The Hester woman was so jealous that she told the police, and they caught Percy and Bloomer.

The Hester woman, in the meantime, had been bombarding the house with missiles of various kinds, and for this she, too, was arrested.

The two women were placed in the same cell for company, but they didn't agree. Soon after being locked up Lieutenant Moore came to the conclusion that there was an earthquake under the city hall, and going below found that the late Hester had torn the other's clothing off and was giving her a beating. They had to be torn apart and the former locked in the dungeon.

The Hester woman was fined $30 and costs this morning and recognized in the sum of $100 for good behavior, while Grimes and the other woman were fined $20 and costs for immorality.

Dave McKendrick and Tom Jeffry were fined $3 and costs each for a breach of the peace.

A case against Tony Iseman charged with knocking a boy named Henry Brewster down was continued. The boy claims he was at the Iseman stable trying to buy turkeys for a shooting gallery.

Linn and Charles McCullom were charged with a breach of the peace and the woman was fined $3 and costs while the man was acquitted.

Tillman Menns, arrested some time ago on an old warrant for outting Pete Griffin, was granted another continuance.

UP TO WEATHER

Work on the Cairo Extension is Being Pushed.

Trains Likely to Be Running Long Before June 1.

Mr. A. M. Shaw, roadmaster of the Louisville division of the Illinois Central, returned to Louisville this morning after a short business trip to the city.

Mr. Shaw says that the report relative to the completion of the work on the Cairo branch was not correct in the details.

"No one can tell exactly when the work will be finished," he said, "for the weather is the principle thing to be considered. If the weather holds out the work will be pushed and finished long before June, the time alleged in the published report. We expect to have trains running on that branch before that time, but of course things might happen that will prevent this. As to the track work the railroad section hands are keeping up with the graders. These have been the orders given and when a cut of grading is opened up for the railroad men, the track is placed in and laid to the graders before a day has passed. It is no trouble to keep up with the graders." The delay to this work has been caused principally by litigation in securing the deeds to the property, right of ways, etc. This has all been settled and now it is "up to the weather" as one railroad man expressed it this morning.

The shipment of the animals will begin on January 15. Major Eckersley says it is the intention of the government to make a second purchase of equal size when the present movement is ended.

MAKE AN APPEAL

Trustees of the Confederate Home
Want Books and Other Things.

The People of the State Asked to Contribute Towards the Entertainment of the Old Soldiers.

MANY THINGS ACCEPTABLE

An appeal has been sent out by the trustees of the Confederate home, asking that everything be done by the friends of the institution for the pleasure of the veterans who are spending their last days there. The trustees are anxious that entertainment be given to relieve the monotony of the home life.

Only thirty days have elapsed since it was opened, and more than 50 inmates are enjoying its benefits.

The money from the state will, it is believed, meet the absolute wants of the home, but there is something as necessary as raiment and clothing and a home, and that is, a kind, cheery word, a thoughtful remembrance, something to amuse and divert, some token that will assure these soldiers that they are not forgotten.

This home will become little better than a prison if those outside do nothing kind, thoughtful or amusing for its occupants. Men like these Confederate veterans will demand something more than a mere sleeping and eating place.

They must have books, games, concerts, readings, something to look forward to, something to destroy the dreariness of idleness.

Within sixty days it is probable that there will be one hundred veterans in the home. Captain S. H. Ford, the commandant, is doing all he can to make the institution a home in the truest sense, and the matron, Mrs. Girard, keeps everything tidy and clean. The library, with several thousand volumes, ought to be shortly arranged, but these veterans need magazines, newspapers, checkers and chess, sets of dominoes and kindred games. It is hoped every Kentucky newspaper will mail a copy for the home.

The sending of a box, the forwarding of a book the singing of a song, the donation of a game, will make the inmates happy. Will anyone who they are remembered, tell them their sacrifices are appreciated, and cause a ray of sunshine to gladden the lives, which need cheer and brightening, now that the shadows are lengthening and the twilight of their lives is upon them.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

WILL EFFECT SUIT AGAINST RAILROAD COMPANIES.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 10—The Appellate Court holds, in an opinion by Judge White, that compliance by a foreign railroad with the provisions of Section 841 of the Kentucky Statutes makes it in effect a corporation of this state, and that as such it cannot remove its cases to the United States court. This opinion was delivered in the case of Davis against the O. and O. Railway company, appealed from the Lewis circuit court. It is a reversal of that court.

GRADING DONE.

NEW COAL CRUTE TRACK IS SOON TO BE IN.

The grading for the coaling track at the new coal chute is being made. The graders are at work today near the yard office and will have the grade finished before the week is out. Work on the chute is going slow on account of scarcity in material. A large order for material has been put in but the stuff has not come yet and the work is being slightly delayed. A track leading from the chute and ending east of the yard office will be put in for the coaling track. This is where the grading is being done.

Ella Oerman, wife of the janitor at the court house, has sued the city of Mayfield for $5,000 damages for stamping her toe against an obstruction in the streets. The case was tried Monday and she was awarded $100. Another woman was awarded $250 against the city and $250 against the telephone company, Saturday, for injuries from a live wire.

A Roadmaster on the St. Louis Division
Also Goes Up.

The appointment of J. J. Gavin, as superintendent of the Lithfield and St. Louis, or Springfield division of the Illinois Central road was announced yesterday, to become operative immediately, Mr. Davis succeeds O. Donaherty, who was compelled to leave for California several months ago, because of failing health. Mr. Gavin has been trainmaster on the St. Louis division of the road and often came to Paducah. Mr. B. Gilles, recently roadmaster of the St. Louis division of the Illinois Central with headquarters in Carbondale, Ill., has been made superintendent of the Omaha division, with headquarters at Fort Dodge. He has been serving as superintendent of the Cherokee division. He is also well known here.

AN HONEST MAN

HE SENT $10 TO THE UNITED STATES TREASURY.

Washington, Dec. 10—A man in Lexington, Ky., should have a free conscience today. For years he has been sorely troubled because he owed the government $10. Finally he could stand it no longer and he gave $10 to the Episcopal rector of his town and asked him to forward the money to the government. The minister sent the money to New York by draft. It was received by the United States treasury yesterday.

In these cases the government does not go back of the returns. That is to say it will make no inquiries from the minister as to how the man owed the money to the treasury.

COUGHING SPELL CAUSED DEATH.

"Harry Duckwell, aged 25 years, choked to death early yesterday morning at his home, in the presence of his wife and child. He contracted a slight cold a few days ago and paid but little attention to it. Yesterday morning he was seized with a fit of coughing which continued for some time. His wife sent for a physician, but before he could arrive another coughing spell came on and Duckwell died from suffocation.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat, Dec. 1, 1901." BARNETT NOT TO RESIGN.

Louisville, Dec. 10—"There is absolutely no truth in the rumor that Mr. Barnett will resign the position of Surveyor of Customs, to be succeeded by Senator Deboe," said Sidney J. Snook, deputy surveyor of customs, this morning. "Mr. Barnett has never considered resigning, and there is no fight on him for the place. Further than that, Senator Deboe is not after the place."

The opinion expressed by Mr. Snook is shared by all the Republican politicians who are close to Mr. Barnett.

I notice that when I sell a bottle they come back for more. I can honestly recommend it." 25c, 50c and $1 at DuBois and Co.'s.

Being arched it is wholly unsupported—being weak it is the one place that gets tired, but all the same it is the muscle by which you walk, it is the one part of the foot that needs to be helped.

The Dorothy Dodd Shoe

supports the arch of the foot by a special curved shank between the inner and outer soles, this shank exactly follows the arch of the foot. It holds its shape and supports the foot.

Sleeping Volcanoes

A thin, vapory smoke, lazily ascending from its crater may be the only visible sign of life in the sleeping volcano, but within is a raging sea of fire, molten rock and sulphurous gases. Those who make their homes in the peaceful valleys below know the danger and, though frequently warned by the rumblings and quakings, these signs of impending eruption go unheeded.

They are living in fancied security when the giant awakes with deafening roars and they are lost beneath a downpour of heated rock and scalding ashes.

Thousands of blood poison sufferers are living upon a sleeping volcano and are taking desperate chances, for under the Mercury and Potash treatment the external symptoms of the disease disappear, and the deluded victim is happy in the belief of a complete cure, but the fires of contagion have only been smothered in the system, and as soon as these minerals are left off will blaze up again. Occasional sores break out in the mouth, a red rash appears on the body, and these warning symptoms, if not heeded, are soon followed by fearful eruptions, sores, copper colored spots, swollen glands, loss of hair and other sickening symptoms.

Mercury and Potash not only fail to cure blood poison, but cause Mercurial Rheumatism, necrosis of the bones, offensive ulcers and inflammation of the Stomach and Bowels.

The use of S. S. S. is never followed by any bad results. It cures without the slightest injury to the system. We offer $1,000.00 for proof that it contains a mineral of any description. S. S. S. is an antidote for contagious blood poison, and the only radical and permanent cure known. It destroys every atom of the virus and purifies and strengthens the blood and builds up the general health.

We will mail free our special book on Contagious Blood Poison, which gives all the symptoms of the disease with full directions for home treatment. Medical advice is furnished by our physicians without charge.

THE SUN'S PUZZLE PICTURE.

"YOUR CARRIAGE IS WAITING, MISS." WHERE IS THE FOOTMAN?

Written at Random.

It is said, and not denied, that Paducah street car motormen are the most accommodating on the face of the earth. They will give a passenger anything from change for a time to a first class fight, the passenger to select the weapons. But the latest street car stories are strictly true. The other night a couple got on one of the cars that was on its way to the street car shed and said they wanted to go to the park. The motorman informed them that he had orders to go to the shed, and consequently they would have to postpone their trip to the park or else wait.

Now any couple who would want to ride to the park with the mercury hanging zero could hardly be expected to do anything sensible, so this one declined to get off. The man said he would go to the shed as long as the car was going that far, but as that was not as far as he wanted to go, he wouldn't pay. The motorman insisted that he would have to pay, as the law and street car company required it, but the man insisted that he wouldn't. Being larger than the motorman, and with a huxor female to assist him, the motorman decided that discretion was the better part of valor, and after thinking the matter over decided that it would be very disagreeable to have to put the couple off, for they looked comfortable. He was equally as convinced that he could not have them arrested, because he didn't know their names, nor where they lived. If he allowed them to ride on the other hand, he would in all probability get fired at the shed for not having their fare. The only thing left up front, and in a polite tone ask him if he wouldn't please drop the dime in the box. The motorman explained that he would have to pay the fare himself, or lose his job, and as he wasn't allowed to deposit money in the fare box, would the passenger himself be so kind? The man kindly descended to deposit the motorman's hard-earned money in the box, and the remainder of the trip was quite pleasant, as there was no more controversy.

There is another motorman, however equally as accommodating as the one who pays your fare if you don't do it yourself. He came along in a snub car a few days ago and saw a woman wildly gesticulating to him from the side of the track.

"Oh dear," she exclaimed as the car came to a standstill, "I've lost my nicker, and haven't another with me!"

Now that motorman was gallant, with an unusually strong accent on the last syllable, and taking his key off down he got and proceeded to search for the nicker. They looked through the grass and cinders and dirt, the passengers watching with obvious interest from the window, while a big city drummer laughed heartily on the rear platform.

The other car could be seen standing on the switch waiting for connection several blocks away, but connection didn't mean anything to the motorman as long as that nicker was missing. Soon his efforts were rewarded and he found it.

He and the passenger, clambered aboard and the nicker was deposited in the box, the passengers smiled in relief and contentment and the car was not but five minutes late at the switch.

Certainly Paducah motormen are accommodating.

A "hobo" mooching along Broadway yesterday had an unique crutch to use in supporting himself. Half of these hobos use crutches because they are too lazy to walk, not because they are crippled, but this tramp seemed to be bad off for one, as he was using nothing but a common worn out broom that looked as if it had been discarded by some housewife. He managed to get along fairly well on it and the nicks appeared to come in pretty frequently because he looked so poverty-stricken. The quality of his crutch showed that he had a keen perception, and was only working the public.

A great many people doubtless wonder what ever became of Bill Watkins, the editor of the Paducah Moon. Nobody knew until a few days ago, when some Marshall county man who had been traveling through Anderson county, Texas, wrote a letter to the Beeton Tribune, saying that he came across Bill down there, and that Bill has the usual number of experience to tell. He is now planning a trip to South America, having developed into a veritable globe-trotter.

It is somewhat interesting to recall the fact that Paducah, since becoming an incorporated city, has had but eight mayors, Messrs. John G. Fisher, Mayer Weil, Jesse H. Gardner, John Saneer, Joseph H. Johnson, Charles Reed, D. A. Yeiser and James Lang. All of the above are new deal except Messrs. Reed, Lang and Yeiser, who are the living ex-mayors. All Paducah mayors have enjoyed good health and long lives.

A NEW DEAL

ILLINOIS CENTRAL MAKES A CONTRACT WITH SOUTHERN PACIFIC TO FIGHT L. AND N.

The Illinois Central and Southern Pacific railroads have formed a close traffic alliance on business from Chicago via New Orleans and the Pacific coast. The Southern has joined with the Illinois Central in the building of a new union depot at New Orleans. The new deal will become effective January 1. The Queen and Crescent is expected to join the new combination. A serious fight between the Louisville and Nashville and the combination is anticipated. The former threatens to join hands with the Texas and Pacific and throw its influence to the Condit interests. The two fast trains between New Orleans and California points, lately put on by the Southern Pacific, make close connection with the Illinois Central, and it is said that the Central will run through sleepers via New Orleans to the Pacific coast and compete with the Santa Fe and Rock Island lines.

NEW MEMBERS

SHOWING AT THE Y. M. O. A. IS VERY GOOD AT PRESENT.

The Y. M. O. A. directors met last night to discuss the situation. It was reported that 25 new members have been received since November 15 and an active canvass is still being made. Between now and the first of the year finances will be sought with a view to obtaining as much before the beginning of the new year as possible.

After January 1 a reduction of 50 per cent will be made in the entrance fee of those desiring to enter classes in the educational department.

A meeting of the ladies' committee will be held this afternoon to consider a proposition from Prof. Earhardt, who gave an entertainment here not long ago, and now proposes to give one for the Y. M. O. A. If satisfactory arrangements can be made.

DISTRIBUTING DEPOT

WESTERN TRAVELING MAN THINKS OF ESTABLISHING ONE HERE.

Mr. George Brink, of Colorado Springs, Col., who is at the Palmer house, states that his company, which imports coffee, tea and spices, cocoa and many other things, contemplates establishing a distributing plant at Paducah in order to improve its facilities for serving this end of the state. His house, the George Brink company, has many of these branch houses or depots in other places and one here would be a good thing.

THE WEATHER.

Cloudy weather tonight. Thursday fair and cooler.

It was not generally known that the purpose of the strike commission was to give some of the interested parties an opportunity to parade the misfortunes of some of their people before the commissioners, but it seems they are doing it. So far as destitution, suffering, sorrow and kindred woes are concerned, an array of each and every one of them could be massed right here in Paducah, or any other city any day that, would bring the blush of shame to the cheek of every Christian man and woman, and which might be taken to mean that the city is a place where misfortune and sorrow go unheeded, the weak are oppressed and the people unworthy of a Christian name. Yet it wouldn't be so. The commissioners are investigating the strike to do justice to all concerned, and manufacturing sentiment is not giving justice. If the miners want to parade the lame, halt and blind before the commission as "exhibits" the other side ought to have a right to bring forth the hundreds who are full of health, life and even happiness.

The tobacco men in this district are very much interested in the development of the "combine," which is crowding out the "middle-men" and placing the combine in a position to dictate prices to the raisers. Some of the older tobacco men declare that it is nothing but the outgrowth of long years of development, and cannot be helped. Others want to fight the octopus and are organizing to do it. A plan that does not yet seem to have been suggested by any of the growers is for them to raise tobacco as long as it is profitable, and when it ceases to be, to cease raising it and let someone else—the combine itself if everybody else is crowded out—do the raising.

A Louisville judge yesterday decided that the new "breach of trust" law is unconstitutional. It is regarded as too broad in its scope, and might be construed to mean that it is a felony for a man to promise to pay a note on a certain date and fail. It was intended to cover cases in which employes or agents of concerns, not corporations, could be reached for embezzlement, many of these cases within the past several years having been decided mere breaches of trust by the courts. The case mentioned above will be taken to the court of appeals at once.

One of the most entertaining of all things to a Republican is to read the forecasts in the Democratic papers of what this or that Republican faction in congress or out of congress is going to do to the other. Every Republican knows that one of the greatest secrets of party success is the way Republicans stick together. Republicans can forgive each other, but Democrats never can. Along this line it might be predicted that Senator Quay will not precipitate any "scandal" in congress if things do not happen to go to suit him.

An important insurance case has just been decided at Bowling Green in circuit court, in which suit was instituted on two old life policies to collect the cash value after they had lapsed.
Many of these old policies, after they have lapsed, are thrown aside as valueless, but after this decision it is likely that many will be looked up.
The court held that the cash value could be collected on them even years after, despite the fact that they had lapsed, and so ordered.

Kentucky is going to be well represented in the exhibit at the St. Louis exposition, and every good citizen should contribute his share towards it.
But it will require work, because the money has to be raised by subscription, the legislature refusing to appropriate any for the purpose. Every other state will be creditably represented, and Kentucky will not be far behind, if indications count for aught.

It is reported that a Western man has a corner on turkeys, and already has 500,000 pounds of the gobblers saved up for Christmas. The best way for the public to get away with such fellows would be to let him keep them. There would then be less prospect of a corner next year.

It seems from reports that there will be no sort of anti-trust legislation at this session of congress because of the opposition of Senator Hoar. At last accounts he said there would be none, and the whole administration had not succeeded in shaking him in his resolution.

It will not be long until more of the disgraced city officials, whose hands are tied and who can do nothing but sit up and allow salaries, will resign. They are all getting sick of it, but the people have been sick of it for some time.

Every time some of our neighbors in South America want to get out of paying their debts they start a revolution, and after it is over say they can't.

The remarkable record of one year without a single public improvement is enough to cause all the city officials to resign.

Venezuela will soon have to put up or shut up, with the prospects of getting wiped up.

NO HOPE FOR CHARLES.

Newark, N. J., Dec. 10—When Charles Winkelhoff of 263 South Eighth street appealed to Judge Lambert in the Fourth precinct court for an order to prevent his wife from talking that official declared that there was no law in the statutes to stop a woman's tongue.

Winkelhoff claims that one member of his family is suffering from nervous prostration as a result of his wife's continued talk, and that they could stand it no longer. He said that he was annoyed by her unceasing complaints. He was somewhat chagrined by the judge's decision.

per cent more than they really are.

Has Held a Lease for Fourteen Years and Now Will Make His Fight.

"Baldy" Watkins, the well known barber, will go to Philadelphia to look after 32 acres of land that he thinks belongs to him.

As an heir to the Baker family, he thinks it possible he should come into possession of this property. The land was leased by his grandmother Mrs.
Baker, to parties over one hundred years ago and it has been nearly 20 years since the lease expired. Mr.
Watkins has the original lease and now that he has secured the necessary funds to push his claim, will prosecute the matter and attempt to secure what he thinks rightfully belongs to him.

The property was at the time the lease was given of comparatively no value but now it is in the heart of Philadelphia and is worth many millions. He has kept the old lease for 14 years and now intends to make his fight.

OLD FOGY KNEW.

EXPERIENCE TEACHES PEOPLE.

"My parents considered coffee simply a harmless beverage for old and young, so when a mere baby I commenced to drink it, and when I reached womanhood found myself troubled with nervousness, headache and an irritable temper, and to obtain relief I drank more and more coffee, thus adding fuel to the fire.

"I grew worse until life was one black night of pain. My nerves were shattered, body wrecked with suffering, my stomach gave out and bitterly refused to digest the most simple foods, and finally I lay for weeks starving and longing for food, but unable to eat more than just enough to keep me alive.

"While in this state my next door neighbor brought in a fragrant cup that I supposed was some new grade of coffee, and although I had suffered so terribly from its effects, the temptation was too strong to resist, and I drank it with relish. I noticed it had a rich, agreeable taste, and I drank it without distress. She repeated the kindness two or three mornings.

"I began to congratulate myself that it was not coffee that hurt me after all. I was assuring my friend of this one day, when she astonished me by saying that I was not drinking coffee, but a pure food drink called Postum Food Coffee, made from nourishing grain for building up the system and nerves instead of tearing them down.

"I then began to drink Postum regularly, and to get well slowly but surely. Today I am a strong, hearty woman; my nervous system is entirely rebuilt and with a reserve force of strength in time of need; I sleep well and awake refreshed and feel bright for each day's task, with no indigestion or stomach trouble, and a good, strong, active brain ready for any mental strain or toil. There is no doubt on earth that coffee nearly killed me.

"A friend of mine was obliged to resign her position as school teacher because of extreme nervousness caused by coffee drinking. I induced her to use Postum in place of coffee, and at the end of four months she began teaching again, her nervousness gone and feeling and looking ten years younger; her sallow complexion having become a beautiful, healthy bloom." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

SMALL BOY SHOT TO KILL.

The combination of a small boy with a shotgun came near resulting in a tragedy at Metropolis. Norris Hedges, aged 9, had a difficulty with two sons of Fox Davis, and vowed he would go into the house and get a gun and kill them. They didn't believe him, but he soon came out with a breech loading shotgun, "broke" it on the porch and proceeded to insert a shell. The boys ran and just as he fired one of them had the presence of mind to fall on his face, the shot passing into a post right at him.

ONE ON YERKES.

Frank Wachter congressman from the Third Maryland district, whose success in securing positions for his constituents has made him very popular, recently told how he won favor with United States Commissioner of Internal Revenue John W. Yerkes, with the result that there are now a number of Wachter men in that office.

"Yoa see," said Mr. Wachter, "yoa have got to be a joller if you want to get along or ever expect to land anything at all. One day I was in the office talking to Mr. Yerkes. About every minute people were dropping in, saluting him as 'Mr. Commissioner,' and asking for everything in sight. A lot of them got turned down good and hard, and by the way things were going I could see my finish. Finally Mr. Yerkes said: 'I get so tired of this 'Mr. Commissioner, Mr. Commissioner' business that it makes me sick. I have pretty nearly forgotten my own name, simply through everybody calling me 'Mr. Commissioner.' Why, the other day an old friend came in here, and when he said, 'Hello, Jona,' I actually jumped up and hugged him."

"I listened to what he said," continued Mr. Wachter, "and I got right up and went away without asking for a thing. The next morning I happened around, and, opening the door, I put my head in and shouted, 'Good morning, John!' and Yerkes jumped clear out of his chair. 'Come in here, Wachter,' he said. 'What do you want? You can have anything I have.' Well, I got what I was after, and now when I want anything from the commissioner I just go around and say, 'Good morning, Jona.'"—New York Times.

Samuel and William Herbst, who were shot in a difficulty with O. M. Miller eight before last, are improving rapidly and will be ready for trial Friday morning. Their physicians report them doing nicely and does not think the injuries are serious.

Rule of Spars Living.

If we could exactly tabulate the mode of life of our distinguished men of all professions who have lived to a great age and been intellectually active to the last, I doubt not, judging from the details we have, that we should find the rule of sparse living thoroughly represented in their histories. I think it is as with our men of science, our great lawyers, our doctors and our clergy, who live on far past the allotted span of three score years and ten.—London Graphic.

MISS ELEANOR GRAY,

President of the Woman's Art Association of

ST. AUGUSTINE,
FLORIDA.

43 King Street,
St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 5, 1902.

I have not enjoyed good health for the past five years, and were it not for Wine of Cardui I would still be a sufferer today. I was troubled with profuse menstruation, was very irregular and often menstruated every three weeks instead of at the proper periods. Each time I would have severe cramps and bearing down pains with backache unfitting me for office work, and compelling me to lie down for several hours each day and sometimes the entire day. I used several remedies and spent hundreds of dollars trying to get relief, but all of no avail. Fortunately, one of your Ladies' Birthday Almanacs came into my hands and I became much interested, naturally hoping that it would cure me as it had cured others. I took my first dose that night and kept up the treatment religiously. My vitality, which had been well nigh spent by the heavy loss of blood, was gradually restored. I noticed a marked absence of pain at the next period, also a more natural flow. I kept up the treatment for four months and found to my joy that I was entirely well, and the functions of nature were performed naturally and easily. Wine of Cardui is certainly a grand medicine and gladly do I give it entire credit for my wonderful restoration to health.

Eleanor Gray

MISS GRAY took Wine of Cardui and stuck to it. That is what she means when she says she "kept up the treatment religiously". She is a lady of her tribe suffering because she took this mild and simple remedy, because she did not put off the treatment. She did not take it a day or a week and then stop. She took Wine of Cardui and gave its curative qualities time to build up her weak parts, regulate her functions and cure the terrible pains in her back. And Wine of Cardui so used will never fail to benefit any case of female trouble however serious it may be. Wine of Cardui cannot restore dead organs, but it does cure menstrual troubles, which sap the body of its strength and result in back-breaking, bearing-down pains. Wine of Cardui is a simple vegetable remedy that has cured hundreds of thousands of women suffering from leucorrhoea, bearing-down pains and all the common menstrual disorders when they have taken it according to the directions on the bottle. If you will secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist and take a few doses of it every day you will have the same relief Miss Gray enjoys. Never let anyone sell you a substitute for Wine of Cardui.

116 BROADWAY PHONE 20

CASE II3 By... Emile Gaboriau

"I suppose, monsieur, you know that my young friend has just been released from prison."

"Yes," replied M. Fauvel, making an effort to control himself—"yes, for want of sufficient proof."

"Precisely, monsieur, and this want of proof, as stated in the decision of 'not proved,' ruins his prospects and compels him to leave here at once for America."

At this information M. Fauvel's features relaxed as if relieved.

"Ah, he is going away," he said. There was no mistaking the recent full, almost haunting intonation of the words "going away."

"It appears to me," continued M. Verduret, "that Prosper's determination is a wise one. I merely wished him before leaving Paris to come and pay his respects to his former chief."

The hanker smiled bitterly. "M. Verduret," he replied, "might have spared us both this painful meeting. I have nothing to say to him, and of course he can have nothing to say to me."

This was a formal dismissal, and M. Verduret, understanding it thus, bowed to M. Fauvel, accompanied by Prosper, who had not spoken a word.

When they reached the street, Prosper recovered the use of his tongue.

"I hope you are satisfied, monsieur," he said in a gloomy tone. "You exacted this painful step, and I could only acquiesce. Have I gained anything by adding this humiliation to the others?"

"I have," replied M. Verduret. "I could find no way of gaining access to M. Fauvel save through you, and now I have found out what I wanted to know. I am convinced that M. Fauvel had nothing to do with the robbery."

"Oh, monsieur," objected Prosper. "Innocence can be forgiven."

"Certainly, but not to this extent. And this is not all. I wished to find out if M. Fauvel would be accessible to certain suspicions. Now I can say 'Yes.'"

Prosper and his companion had stopped to talk more at their ease near the corner of La Fayette street, in the middle of a large square which had lately been cleared by pulling down an old house. M. Verduret seemed to be anxious and was constantly looking around as if he expected some one. He soon uttered an exclamation of satisfaction. At the other end of the vacant space he saw Cavallion, who was running bare-headed and so excited that he did not even stop to shake hands with Prosper.

But said M. Verduret: "They have gone, monsieur."

"How long since?"

"About a quarter of an hour ago."

"The denier they did! Then we have not a minute to lose."

He handed Cavallion the note he had written some hours before at Prosper's house.

"Here, send him this and then return at once to your desk. You might be released. It was very imprudent in you to come out without your hat."

Little Cavallion ran off as quickly as he had come. Prosper was stupefied.

"What?" said he. "You know Cavallion?"

"So it seems," answered M. Verduret, with a smile. "But we have no time to talk. Make haste."

M. Verduret suddenly stopped before a door bearing the number 51. He led the way up the steps and stopped on the second floor before a door over which was a large sign—"Dressmaker."

A handsome bellhop hung on the wall, but M. Verduret did not touch it. He tapped with the ends of his fingers in a peculiar way, and the door instantly opened as if some one had been watching for his signal on the other side—a woman of about forty. She quietly ushered M. Verduret and Prosper into a neat dining room with several doors opening into it.

"Well?" he said by a look. She bowed affirmatively.

"Yes."

"Is there?" asked M. Verduret in a low tone, pointing to one of the doors.

"No," said the woman in the same tone; "over there in the little parlor."

M. Verduret opened the door pointed out and pushed Prosper into the little parlor, whispering as he did so: "Go in and keep steady."

But this injunction was useless. The instant he cast his eyes around the room into which he had been pushed without any warning Prosper exclaimed:

"Madeleine!"

It was indeed M. Fauvel's niece, looking more beautiful than ever. Standing in the middle of the room near a table covered with silks and satins, she was arranging a skirt of red velvet embroidered in gold—the dress she was to wear as maid of honor to Catherine de Medici. At sight of Prosper the blood rushed to her face, and her beautiful eyes half closed, as if she were about to faint. She supported herself by the table to keep from falling. Her weakness lasted but a moment, and the soft expression of her eyes changed to one of haughty resentment. In an offended tone she said:

"What has induced you to be watching my movements? Who gave you permission to follow me, to enter this house?"

Prosper would have given worlds to explain what had just happened, but no was powerless and could only remain silent.

"You promised me upon your honor," continued Madeleine, "that you would never again seek my presence. Is this the way you keep your word?"

"I did promise, but—"

"No stopped."

"Oh, speak!"

"So many things have happened since that terrible day that I think I am excusable in forgetting for one hour an oath torn from me in a moment of blind weakness. It is to chance—at least to another will than my own—that I am indebted for the happiness of once more finding myself near you. Alas, the instant I saw you my heart bounded with joy. I did not think—I could not think—that you would prove more pitiless than strangers have been; that you would cast me off when I am so miserable and heartbroken."

Had not Prosper been so agitated he could have read in the eyes of Madeleine—those beautiful eyes which had so long been the arbiters of his destiny—the signs of a great inward struggle.

It was, however, in a firm voice that she replied:

"You know me well enough, Prosper, to be sure that no blow can strike you without reaching me at the same time. You suffer, I suffer with you."

"You drove me away," said Prosper, "and to obey you I told every one that I had left you voluntarily. You told me that an invincible obstacle had arisen between us, and I believed you, fool that I was! The obstacle was your own heart."

As white and motionless as a statue, Madeleine stood with bowed head before the storm of passionate reproach.

"I told you to forget me."

"Forget!" exclaimed Prosper excitedly. "Forget! How can I forget? Is it in my power to stop by an effort of will the circulation of my blood? Ah, you have never loved! To forget, as to stop the beatings of the heart, there is but one means—death!"

"Good heavens, this suffering is beyond endurance! Prosper, if you only knew—"

"I know but one thing, Madeleine, and that is that you no longer love me and that I love you!"

He was silent. He hoped for an answer. None came. But suddenly the silence was broken by a repressed sob. It was Madeleine's maid, who, seated in a corner, was weeping.

Prosper had been so moved at finding Madeleine that he had not noticed her. He turned in surprise and looked at the weeping woman. He was not mistaken—this neatly dressed waiting-maid was Nina Gipsy.

Slowly and almost unconsciously Madeleine had put on her wraps, which were lying on the sofa. When she was ready, she approached Prosper.

"Why did you come here?" she said. "We both have need of all the courage we can command. You are unhappy. Prosper, I am more unhappy. You have a right to complain. I have not the right to shed a tear. While my heart is slowly breaking I must wear a smiling face. You can seek consolation in the bosom of a friend. I can have no confidant but God."

Prosper tried to make a reply, but his pale lips refused to articulate. He was stilling.

"I wish to tell you," continued Madeleine, "that I have forgotten nothing. But, oh, let not this knowledge give you any hope. There is no hope for us. But if you love me you will live. You will not add to my already heavy burden of sorrow the agony of mourning your death. The day may come when I can justify myself in your eyes. And now adieu, adieu!"

She kissed his forehead and rushed from the room, followed by Nina Gipsy.

Prosper was alone. He seemed to be awaking from a troubled dream. He tried to think over what had just happened and asked himself if he were losing his mind. When M. Verduret entered the little parlor, he strode toward him and in a harsh, threatening voice said to him:

"Who are you?"

The fat man did not show any surprise at this burst of anger, but quietly answered:

"A friend of your father. Did you not know it?"

"This is no answer, monsieur. I have surrendered my will to a stranger, and now—"

"Do you want my biography—what I have been, what I am and what I may be? What difference does it make to you? I told you that I would save you. It is essential that I save you."

"Madeleine has ceased to love me, and of what importance is anything else?"

His heartbroken tone aroused M. Verduret's sympathy, and he said in a kind, soothing voice:

"Then you suspect nothing? You did not fathom the meaning of what she said?"

"You were listening!" cried Prosper fiercely.
